Assessment Favors Big Man, But Millage Rate Hits the Small Fellow

In this Saturday's School Election local voters will be confronted with the request of Hope School District 1-A for a 5-mill tax increase — and this newspaper suggests that you vote it down.

As we pointed out yesterday, since the schools were permitted to ask for an unlimited millage figure (1948) the Hope schools' share of the total local property tax has risen from 42.4% to 67.3% at present — and if this 5-mill increase goes through it will become 70%.

Obviously something is wrong. Unlimited millage is failing to produce the expected dollars. And the explanation is obvious, too. As the tax rate rises the people back away from the assessing base against which the tax is levied — reducing the dollar return.

But for the little taxpayer this is a trap from which it is impossible to escape — unless he follows this newspaper's advice and votes against this Saturday's 5-mill increase.

What the little fellow owns is easily and quickly assessed. Therefore he is stuck with the full force of a higher tax rate.

But the interests of the larger property owners — some of whom don't even live here — are many and complex. And they employ people whose business it is to see that these interests are assessed just as low as the public confusion over our voluntary assessment system will permit.

Under such a villainous system the fellow with but one house is stuck with more than his share of the tax bill.

I know that Hope's teachers are being told to go out and work for this 5-mill tax increase in Saturday's election — on the promise it will mean higher salaries for them.

But I submit, in all fairness, what the teachers ought to do is to vote against the 5-mill increase; then tell the school administrators, "Get us an increase from higher assessments or we don't work" — and see what happens.

You and I know that the public schools aren't going to close under any circumstances. The property and money are right here — but property isn't reasonably assessed, the unlimited-millage machine is simply spinning its wheels, and therefore the tax dollar output is disappointing.

The teachers have a case — but it should be directed against the assessor's office and the equalization board — not against the lone householder who earns his living manually.

Twenty-two years ago this writer appeared before the Arkansas legislature and helped get the original 2% sales tax enacted for the benefit of the schools and the teachers.

The sales tax was supposed to supplement property taxes — instead, it has been used as a substitute. The real dollar-value of the property tax has gone down since the sales tax became law — and it will drop further for the big property owners if you are foolish enough to vote for this 5-mill tax hike Saturday.

Teachers Urge Public to Vote Tax Increase

In regard to the Hempstead property assessment program and the 5-mill school tax increase which the voters of Hope District 1-A will decide at the polls Saturday, the Hope Classroom Teachers Organization issued the following statement today:

To The Voters Of Hope School District 1-A
The Hope Classroom Teachers Organization believes in and supports the program of our public school administrators. The administration has worked and is still working ceaselessly for the assessment program.

Local voters cast ballots at Hope City Hall Saturday in the school election and residents of Fulton vote in the Fulton Library.

We feel that it is the duty of not only the school officials, but of all parents and local citizens to get behind and stay behind the assessment program. The local government and the public schools are supported by taxation. The local government belongs to the people. The public schools belong to the people and are instituted for their children.

The school administrators and faculty will continue to work for the assessment program and urge the full support of the public. While the assessment program is being worked out the schools must continue to operate. Therefore, we as classroom teachers urge the voters to support a 5-mill increase in tax rate for support of schools until the assessment program is satisfactory.

Mrs. James McLarty, President; Miss Gwendolyn Dean, Secretary.

Cuba Turns Back Student Rebellion

By GEORGE KAUFMAN

HAVANA, Cuba (U) — Tank-attacked troops have wiped out a student attempt to capture or kill President Fulgencio Batista in fighting that took an estimated 40 lives.

The government said the entire nation was calm early today.

One of the dead was an American tourist. A curfew, imposed after the assault on the presidential palace in the heart of Havana, was lifted last night. Many persons, including American tourists, moved about as usual in bars, restaurants and night clubs.

Armored cars and tanks still mobilized about the palace, Batista's office and residence, were the only open signs of the trouble that erupted violently yesterday afternoon.

There was no official announcement of arrests, but it was evident that police were carrying out an intensive search for applicants in the attack.

In addition to the 40 persons reported killed, an estimated 60 were wounded.

The dead included tourist Peter Korena, Clifton, N. J. A stray bullet killed him as he watched the battle from the fifth-floor balcony of the Regis Hotel his room-mate, Ed R. Butts, Garfield, N. J. was wounded slightly.

Police said the rebel dead included Jose Antonio Echegarria.

20 Killed in British Airline Crash

MANCHESTER, England, (U) — A British European Airways Viscount turbo-prop airplane crashed into a row of houses and burned just outside ringway international airport today. An official announcement said 20 persons aboard the plane were killed.

Three persons, including a mother and her child, were reported trapped in one of the houses demolished by the plane.

The Viscount was en route from Amsterdam, Holland, to the Ringway Airport on the outskirts of Manchester, third largest city in England. The crash occurred a quarter of a mile short of the runway. The plane carried 15 passengers and a crew of five.

A large number of ambulances was dispatched to the scene. Cyril Barnett, a gardener who was working in a nursery some 500 yards from the demolished houses, said the engines revved wrong, it leaned over to its right and seemed to be trying to avoid the houses.

There then was a terrific explosion as it crashed into the houses, followed by a terrible blaze of fire, he said.

Hi-way Appropriation Is Victim of Fuss as the Legislature Adjourns

Faubus Had Legislature in His Palm From Start

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (U) — The Arkansas Legislature was scheduled to close up shop today for another two years after carrying a special session — after completing almost to the letter an ambitious program outlined by Gov. Orval Faubus.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the 1937 session was the near-perfect control exercised by Faubus.

The Legislature approved in its entirety the administration program for a 22-million-dollar-a-year boost in state taxes, including an increase in the sales tax from two per cent to three per cent.

The Legislature also: 1. Allocated most of the new money for salary increases for public school teachers with other increases for the Welfare Department, State Hospital, the state-supported colleges and other institutions and agencies.

2. Voted into law an omnibus 7-million-dollar building program, to be financed partly by the increased revenues and partly by money from a reserve fund.

3. Voted record appropriations, the total still undetermined, for state governmental operations for the next two fiscal years.

4. Approved four measures which lay racial integration in Arkansas despite the rulings of the U. S. Supreme Court.

5. Setled, at least temporarily, the tug among the Highway Department, the counties and the cities over who gets how much of highway revenues.

6. Received a rash of bills: to add roads to the highway system and wound up by voting to annex 12 miles in ever county — a total of 900 miles.

7. Refused to authorize a popular vote on a proposal for legalized gambling at Hot Springs, but revised laws regulating horse and dog racing, on which pari-mutuel wagering is permitted.

These, of course, were only a few of the many items considered and disposed of — or left hanging — by the state's 61st General Assembly.

The others covered such divergent subjects, to name a few, as marriage and divorce, utility and allocations and utility rates, the price of hunting and fishing licenses, a loyalty oath for public employees, trading stamps, an increase in drivers license fees, optometry, unemployment compensation revision — and nudism.

For the most part the course of the General Assembly could be considered a victory for Faubus, who two years ago missed the customary legislative honeymoon to a first term governor an adult of lingering bitterness engendered by the 1934 primary and general election campaigns.

The governor and his forces put over the first comprehensive tax increase program adopted in more than 20 years.

The omnibus construction bill and the segregation measure, which Faubus' friends and it was Faubus who announced the compromise plan for distribution of highway revenues.

Some administration bills failed, but on the whole the plans which Faubus outlined in his second-term inaugural address on Jan. 15 became law.

Three bills to carry out the tax increase proposals were introduced in the Senate during the second week of the 60-day legislative session, and by early February all had passed both houses and had been signed into law by the governor.

Besides the sales tax increase, estimated to yield an additional 16 million dollars a year, the new laws provide for increased income tax through a lowering of personal exemptions and for an increase in the severance tax levied for removal of natural gas, oil, bauxite and coal.

The income tax revision is expected to net around five million dollars yearly and the severance tax increase around one million.

Before the sales tax increase passed, unsuccessful efforts had been made, as a substitute, to extend the 2 per cent tax to a long list of non-covered items and services.

More than 14 millions of the severance tax increase around one million tax increase around one million.

Official of Teamsters Faces Charge

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (U) — James R. Hoffa, a power in the giant Teamsters Union, today faced charges that he tried to bribe a lawyer for a Senate committee investigating racketeering in labor and industry.

Hoffa, 44-year-old Teamster vice president, was arrested by the FBI last night and charged with hiring John C. Cheasty, a New York attorney, to get a job with the committee and then feed him information from its files.

Two other arrests were announced at the same time, one in Florida and one in Detroit.

Both the FBI and the Committee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) said Cheasty had cooperated fully in the monthlong investigation that led up to Hoffa's arrest. Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Cheasty worked as a double agent.

The FBI said that when Hoffa was seized, he had in his possession documents from the committee files which he had just received.

Soon after Hoffa's arrest, he was taken before U. S. Commissioner James Splain on charges of violating the federal bribery statutes.

Equalization Act Almost Fails in House

LITTLE ROCK (U) — Tempers approached the boiling point as the House yesterday defeated and then passed an appropriation connected with the 1935 assessment equalization act.

The measure to provide $368,729 yearly for the Tax Assessment Coordination Department, which aids counties with assessment problems, failed the first time around. The vote was 69-22 in favor and 75 votes needed for passage.

Gov. Orval Faubus quickly issued a statement assailing the bill's defeat as a move by special interests who are trying to strike this body blow at Arkansas in an effort to avoid their fair share of ad valorem taxes.

Reps. Chad L. Durrett and James A. Pomeroy of Union County and Rep. William H. Thompson of Polk county were among those who opposed the bill on grounds it would help to continue the 1935 assessment program, which has failed and would set up a dictator to direct tax assessment affairs that properly belong to the counties.

The Senate bill came up again on reconsideration. On the second roll call the vote was 75-16. Opponents charged improper voting and steam roller tactics.

Speaker Glen F. Walther of Pulaski, who had relinquished the chair to an acting speaker during the second roll call, voted for the bill. His ballot gave the measure the bare 75 necessary for passage.

A speaker seldom votes. The House quickly became embroiled on several points. An alternative ballot of Rep. Marion H. Frank of Little River was challenged on ground he was absent from the chamber and a girl page recorded his vote.

Arkansas' highest peaks — Hot Springs is located in the picturesque Ouachita mountain country. (Pronounced "Wash-i-law"), which means "good hunting grounds". The Ouachita ranges run east and west and have the highest peaks in the State and between the Rockies and the Alleghenies. These peaks are Magazine, Blue and Rich.

Special Session Apparently Will Be Necessary

LITTLE ROCK (U) — The Arkansas Legislature adjourned sine die today without taking final action on a huge highway appropriation bill.

A special session apparently will have to be called in order to appropriate money for operation of the Highway Department during the next two years.

The two houses failed to reach an agreement on two controversial amendments to the bill and both stubbornly adjourned before final action on the measure was assured.

The House followed the compromise recommendations of a joint conference committee and receded from one amendment and the passed the bill at 11:51 a. m. — nine minutes before the customary noon adjournment.

However, the Senate earlier had given notice that it would not approve the compromise recommendations.

The Senate could have completed action on the measure by concurring in the one amendment but it refused to consider and adjourned sine die about one minute after the customary noon adjournment deadline. The Senate had been informed of House action on the bill at the time it adjourned.

About two minutes later, Speaker of the House Glen Walther banged down the gavel for the last time in the lower chamber.

The law states that the Legislature must adjourn after 60 calendar days, but adjournment by noon of the final day is nonmandatory. However, previous Legislatures have followed the custom of winding up the session at or near 12 pm.

The House voted 53-36 against receding from an amendment which would force the Highway Department to pay minimum wages to certain employees in the lower chamber voted 81-8 to recede from another amendment which would give highway employees additional holidays.

This action followed the recommendations of a joint conference committee.

The bill was passed by a vote of 91-2.

A House, which in an almost constant uproar, began debate the highway bill at 11:39 a. m. caused some members of refusing Pulaski Rep. Jack East Jr. accused some members of refusing to follow Senate wishes because they feel they have been badly treated.

That is a stupid reason for not going along with the Senate, he added.

Turning to another subject, Faubus said that he planned to ask legislators to submit to him in writing what construction items in their area they would prefer to have him disapprove rather than vetoing a bonus bill for an immediate increase in salary for public school teachers.

Faubus has said repeatedly that an immediate pay increase, rather than one beginning during the next school term as he plans, would disrupt a construction program outlined in a bill which also has passed both houses.

Israel will not bother with legal interpretation of big-power promises if its day-to-day life is not interfered with.

The apparently calmer Israeli view of the Gaza situation, however, did not include any retreat from the Israeli position that United Nations Emergency Forces must remain in the strip and that Egypt must never again be allowed to use the strip as a springboard for Fdayeen raids against Israel.

Probers to Hear From Union Chief

WASHINGTON — The Senate Rackets Investigating Committee hears today from Dist. Attorney William M. Langley, whom earlier witnesses have linked with an alleged plot by outside to muscle in on crime profits in Portland, Ore.

The probers arranged also to put into evidence heavily censored versions of tape recordings, Portland racketeer James

B. Elkins said he made the secret recordings of conversations among Portland and Seattle gamblers. Teamsters Union officials and others.

Langley, district attorney of Multnomah County, Portland, is under indictment there on charges of malfeasance and failure to conduct prosecutions. He is a Democrat.

Most of yesterday's testimony was concentrated on financial records of the Joint Council of the Teamsters Union in Oregon, and what happened to records for the period from mid-1954 to mid-1956. Reginald (Reg) Mikessell, secretary-treasurer of Council No. 37, testified they were destroyed for lack of storage space. He said

The wholesale meat market was reported tighter this week although it was believed to be only a temporary situation. One source said the chains were paying 2½ cents a pound more than last week.

It is surprising then to find fish and chicken widely featured. The chickens are designed for frying, roasting or stewing, while the fish varieties include scallops, whiting, cod, haddock, shad and shad roe, halibut, salmon and tuna.

Beef and pork are the most frequently mentioned specials among the regular meats, with chuck roast of beef and pork loin both getting a big play.

Tension Eases Somewhat in Middle East

By WALTER LOGAN

Middle Eastern tensions dramatically eased today.

Egypt, in a sudden turnabout from earlier hostility, announced it would give full cooperation to United Nations Emergency Forces in the Gaza strip.

In Jerusalem, in the United Nations, in Washington and other interested capitals, Israel continued to press its diplomatic campaign against Egyptian re-entry to the explosive strip.

But an authoritative Israeli source in Jerusalem made two points in a summation for United Press Correspondent Eliav Simon:

—Israel does not plan anything resembling military involvement in Gada now.

—Premier David Ben Gurion's government is not interested in Juvenile cases are handled. The parents and the child appear before the judge for a talk and the child is placed on probation. Every effort is made to correct misbehavior and to avoid publicity. The C. W. F. of the First Christian Church The Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church held their general meeting in the Church parlor Monday March 11 at 3 p. m.

The meeting opened with prayer by the president, Mrs. Harris. A short business session preceded the program.

Mrs. George Wright, study director gave as the topic of study, "Let's Talk About Money." Interesting in the discussion with Mrs. Wright were Mrs. Ernest Graham and Mrs. Malcolm Porterfield.

Viewer Usually Has Mind Set About Program

NEW YORK (AP)—We sit down to our TV sets with reflexes turned before we have even turned in the station. Certainly there is a tendency to decide whether we're going to like a program before we've seen it. But one can often be surprised. For example: Month-in and month-out that fine acted by Mrs. Cline Franks, the scripture reading taken from Luke 12: 18-21, Romans 12: 1-8 and 2 Cor. 9: 6-8.

The meeting was dismissed with the C. W. F. Benediction.

comedian Jack Benny wears very well on CBS-TV. Equipped with a fiddle, a violin and a bank account, he can stand absolutely still, lift one eyebrow and get tremendous laughs. The old jokes about the light fisted Scotsman no longer are funny. Yet Benny continues to parlay more laughs per second from his personification of a human living or dead.

With reflexes tuned for laughter, we turned to Benny Sunday evening - and failed to laugh. Benny was in Veeva. The reason comedians go to Veeva is to fall into a canal. Every comedian who has taken his act there has done it, but for some reason we were belated that our man Jack would not.

We were disappointed. He fell in not once, but twice.

A while ago this department named Mr. Adams and Eve (CBS-TV, Friday nights) when the comedy series began. Ida Lupino and Howard Duff are excellent light comedians, was the verdict, but the script went flat.

So reflexes were slightly turned before the image of Mr. Adams and Eve was altogether clear on the set last week. What a delightful surprise! It was a hilarious half-hour that exposed the phoniness of an experimental theater group. Reflexes reversed.

Can anyone sit down to a television set with a mind absolutely purged of preconceived notions and prejudices? Probably not, unless he's an idiot one develops tendencies.

There's a tendency to judge a regular program on the basis of one performance. There's a tendency to become such a slavish follower of a performer that you believe he can do no wrong.

There is, finally, an almost irresistible urge to seek light entertainment on television at the end of a long day. Many a maty program is indigestible on top of a hearty dinner. Many a thought-provoking program provokes nothing but sleep after a day of hard work.

Studios Always Had Faith in Finnish Star

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Taina Elg has finally made it.

Two years ago, I interviewed this delectable Finnish pastry after she had already been in Hollywood a year. Her career did not really get off the ground until recently, when she won her first starring role — with Gene Kelly, Mimi Gynhor and Kay Kendall in Les Girls.

Her case is unique. She was under contract to MGM three years before proving herself. That used to be common in the old free-spending days in Hollywood. Ann Gardener was seven years at MGM before winning a lead. Nowadays, a player generally has to produce results or get dropped at the first six-month position.

So you can see that the studio had faith in Taina. And with good reason. She's a statuesque ballerina with a doll-like beauty and natural grace. I visited her for a progress report as she finished a dance routine with Kelly.

Yes, she's happy to be starring at last. No, she didn't get impatient.

When I came over here, it was with the expectation that I would have a long wait before I got some action on my career, she said. I knew that was often the case. I don't mean to compare myself to her, but I understand that even Greer Garson was here two years before she made a picture.

So I waited. I managed to keep busy with dancing lessons and working on my English. And I also took time out to have a baby. I knew I would get my break in time. It didn't worry me.

She can thank two recalcitrant dolls for her big opportunity. Her role as planned for Leslie Caron.

But her demands were considerable, and producer Sol Siegel aimed for Gina Lollobrigida. The Italian babe also wanted more than he could give, so he went looking on the home lot. There was Taina.

Miss Tippitt Vows Pledged

The First Baptist Church of Prescott was the setting for the wedding of Miss Jacquelyn Tippitt and Hody W. Butler Jr., Sunday March 10 at three o'clock in the afternoon. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Curtis Tippitt of Prescott. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Hody W. Butler also of Prescott.

Vows were exchanged before altar decorations of white gladioli and chrysanthemums against a background of greenery illuminated by cathedral candles lighted by Miss Patsy Ellis, cousin of the bride, who wore a princess style waist length dress of pale pink crystaletta over taffeta and a waist corsage. The pews were marked with palms and white satin bows.

Rev. W. A. Lindsey read the double wedding ring ceremony. Mrs. A. V. Regnier, organist, played a prelude of nuptial music. A choral quartet, Miss Betty Beaver, Mrs. Norman Sharber, Miss Bobbie George and Mrs. Bill Bobbitt of Dallas, Texas, sang "Because," "True Love" and "The Lord's Prayer" acapella.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an original ballerina length gown of pure silk diamond white taffeta. The molded bodice was designed with a wide yoke of re-embroidered lace with seed pearls featuring a Sabrina neckline. Long fitted sleeves tapered to petal points over the hands. Her tiny waist was defined with a crushed cummerbund of taffeta ending with three tiny bows at the center back. The skirts bouffant was created by yards of taffeta relaxed by tiny gathers at the waistline. Her finger tip veil of pure silk illusion fell in tiers from a lace cap encrusted with tiny pearls and sequins and edged with a tiny pleating of tulle. She carried a showered bouquet of feathered chrysanthemums and silver spangled net arranged on a prayer book.

Mrs. Larry Wahlquist, twin sister of the bride, as matron of honor, and Mrs. L. D. McCollum of Dallas, bridesmaid, wore identical dresses of wedgewood blue antique taffeta designed on the empire lines with satin pleatings in the front with a bow. The princess style skirt featured a pleated panel in the back. They wore matching bandeaus in blue and carried bouquets of yellow jonquils and blue net.

Little Miss Paula Hiett, flower girl, was gown in a blue frock similar to the honor attendants that featured a panel of set in ruffles in the back.

Bobby Grayson of New Orleans, La., served as best man and Larry Wahlquist acted attendant for the bridegroom. Ushers were Norman Sharber, Kenneth Beavert and Robert Waldrum of Dallas and Baker Butler of Prescott.

Mrs. Tippitt chose for her daughter's wedding a navy and white suit of silk shantung. Mrs. Butler, mother of the groom, wore a dress of blue printed silk faille with linen jacket and navy accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church dining parlor. Miss Patsy Ellis was in charge of the bride's book. The brides table was covered with an imported lace cloth over yellow and was centered with tall white burning tapers in crystal candelabra encircled with yellow jonquils tied with blue ribbons. At one end of the table Miss Billy Ballenger of Dallas presided at the punch bowl. At the other end Miss Betty Beavert of Dallas served the three tiered wedding cake decorated with white and yellow roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

For travel the bride wore a brown tweed suit flecked with blue, a blue satin hat and alligator accessories.

After a wedding trip in the Ozarks the couple will be at home at 5515 Lindell in Dallas.

Butler-Tippitt Rehearsal Dinner

Mrs. Hugh McDaniel, Mrs. H. W. Butler, Mrs. Howard Ellis, Mrs. Herman Tippitt and Mrs. Charles Harrell of Hope entertained at a rehearsal dinner for members of the Butler-Tippitt wedding party Saturday evening in the McDaniel home. Glowing white tapers on the mantel flanked an arrangement of daffodils.

The dinner was served buffet style from the dining table laid with a white linen cloth and held a background of yellow daffodils in an artistic arrangement.

The guests were seated at five small tables and included Miss Jacquelyn Tippitt, Hody W. Butler Jr., Mrs. Larry Wahlquist, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hiett and Paula, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Regnier, Baker Butler, H. W. Butler Sr., Herman Tippitt and Mr. and Mrs. L. D. McCollum, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Beavert, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sharber, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bobbitt, Bob Waldrum, Miss Bobbie George, Miss Betty Beaver of Dallas, Texas and Bobby Grayson of New Orleans, La.

The Rare Adventure by BERNARD FERGUSON

THE STORY: Allan Lar and his wife Mollie have left Scotland in search of traces of the Barbary pirate Al Merhatmetz, a half-mythical creature. Traveling by bus, they see Seknou, their island destination from the mainland and go aboard a ferry.

CHAPTER IV
The tall driver of the car climbed out of the driving seat and walked aft to the wheelhouse, the deck passengers making way for him deferentially, to pass the time of day with the skipper. Allan and Mollie eyed him with interest, trying to place him. He did not look like a Frenchman, nor like a Spaniard; Italian, they thought, or possibly Greek. Ash turned into the wheelhouse, his hand on the wheel, to swing himself round, his eyes met theirs for an omen, nor did he look away at once; whereas Allan, to his own annoyance, found himself glancing away as if he had been caught staring — as indeed he had.

The skipper was leaning over the rail on the far side of the sound, the same as they had seen from the bus; evidently it was the other end of the ferry. It was less than 20 minutes before they reached the opposite side — no mere hamlet and jetty here, but a good-sized fishing village and harbor, with some much larger vessels of squalid quality lying a little way off the jetty. The lounging policeman and the waiting bus, a twin to that which had brought them from Nail, were the only things in common with Mar-sa Yakoub; and the bus was better painted, and altogether in better trim, than its opposite number. The driver, too, was older and smarter; and although he spoke Arabic, his features were Hebraic. He came down to the boat, touched his chauffeur's cap to Allan, and said to him in French, "It is the Monsieur and Madame who are expected at the Hotel Asdrubal."

"I don't think we're expected," said Allan, but its where we want to go.

"That's it," said the driver, and had their suitcases relieved from the boat and stowed.

Unlike the mainland, the island of Seknou appeared to be remarkably fertile. There were no streams to be seen, but there were olive groves everywhere, and never, in all the Arab countries that he had visited, had Allan seen so many wells. Allan was on the lookout for something unfamiliar, but the first village they came to, which bore the sign, Souk, looked just like any other Arab village. While they were setting down passengers, there came the imperious sound of an American motor-car horn, and the long car swept past them, raising a cloud of choking dust. I don't know why he couldn't have offered us a lift, said Allan, consulting them up, which he had spread out on his knees. This isn't much of a map, but so far as I can make out the motor road doesn't go anywhere else but Seknou.

The bus bounced off the rough road onto smooth stretch of tarmac, which carried them after a few hundred yards through a cool and shady city gate into the town itself. It was market day, and the streets within were crowded, especially about the main squares; but business was nearly over, and the stalls were being dismantled and taken away.

My goodness, isn't this fun! exclaimed Allan. I'll tell you what this reminds me of—Aco. Well go and look to their harbor after luncheon.

When only they and their cases here left in the bus, the driver drove on, through another gate like that which had admitted them to the city, out into a small modern suburb outside the city proper, consisting of only a few buildings — the Gendarmerie, a small hospital, dispensary for sick animals, two or three houses, and the Hotel Asdrubal. The hotel was a tall two-storied building in the shape of an L, standing back from the road in a charming garden. Allan thanked the driver, and walked with Mollie through the garden. Three

Veterans Favored in Women's Meet

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Veterans Party Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., and Louis Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., were co-favorites today when a record field of the nations top women golfers opened play in the 72-hole Titleholders golf championship.

The four-day event is being staged at the hilly, 6,290-yard Augusta Country Club course, where par of 72 has been a stern challenge in all of the 17 previous tournaments. It is the oldest individual play of the Ladies Professional Golfers Association tour.

Tournament officials predicted that because of a heavy rain yesterday the winning score would be nowhere near the record 291 set by Miss Berg in 1955.

The chunky veteran, who has been playing golf since 1933, won the tournament for the sixth time with her 1955 feat. She finished as runnerup last year, one stroke off the 302 total of Miss Suggs.

Nearly ever member of the LPGA tour is competing for a slice of the $7,500 purse. The winner will get $1,000.

Hamner Seems Ready to Go for Phillies

By JOHN CHADLER Of The Associated Press

Granny Hamner, a gritty guy who won't give up in spite of a shoulder injury that ended his shortstop days, seemed ready today to make a strong bid for a pitching berth with the Philadelphia Phillies.

Hamner, 29, made his initial spring appearance yesterday against the New York Yankees in an exhibition game at Clearwater, Fla., and was credited with the 9-5 victory in 12 innings.

He pitched the last three innings and allowed only one hit while striking out five Yankees and issuing one walk.

Rip Repulski hit a home run with two out in the last half of the 12th off Bobby Shantz to win for the Phils.

Hamner, who hit 429 against Yankee pitching in the 1950 World Series, mixed a knuckler with a fast curve.

The 5-11, 160-pound right-hander, injured his left shoulder during a night game last May when he dove for a ball. Last November he underwent an operation for a ripped tendon, but it wasn't successful.

Manager Mayo Smith said it was still too early to tell about Hamner as a pitcher, but he's going to give him every chance.

The Pittsburgh Pirates won their fifth grapefruit game without defeat yesterday, a 3-1 decision over the Boston Red Sox in 10 innings.

A double by Bob Skinner, and Bill Virdon's single broke up the game.

Cleveland made it 4-1 for the cactus loop as rookie Roger Maris soaked a two-run homer in the first inning and the Indians doused the Baltimore Orioles 9-3.

After losing four in a row, the Chicago Cubs clipped the New York Giants 9-3. Willie Mays got his first homer, a three-run job that accounted for all Giant tallies.

Brooklyn peppered three Chicago White Sox pitchers for 14 hits, including homers by Pe Wee Reese, Dick Gray and Gil Hodges, for a 9-4 victory.

Home runs by Gus Zernia and Hal Smith helped the Kansas City Athletics squeak out a 5-4 victory over St. Louis.

Cincinnati rapped three Milwaukee hurlers for 14 hits, and won 11-4. The Redlegs clinched the game with a five-run outburst in the eighth inning.

The Washington Senators edged Detroit 3-2.

Metz Favored in Gulf Coast Tournament

QUILFPORT, Miss. (AP) — Easygoing Dick Metz, flashing the form that made him the terror of the professional circuit a few years back, was the favorite as the 11th annual $5,000 Gulf Coast Invitational Golf Tournament opened today.

Metz retired from active competition in 1949 after no decade of following the allure of golfing's jackpots. He now lives at Pike Road, Ala. Just outside Montgomery, where he operates a cattle ranch. But he found time earlier this year to win the Ashapura Open and the State PGA title.

A 69 practice round Metz posted was just one of the many par-breaking tuneups for the tournament. But many of the boys teeing off today conceded he was the man to beat.

Jimmy Johnson, Detroit, and Paul Farrington, Blytheville, Ark., gave the Great Southern Country Club's 6,008-yard, par-71 course the worst treatment both pros gardened 87s with Farrington touring the first nine in an incredible 28.

This year's event is designed primarily for home professionals. Top prize is $800.

RATIS NEET COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Detective Jim Frost smelled a rat when called to investigate the theft of $170 from a laundryman owned by Harold Schneider.

When the floor was torn up it revealed a four-foot tunnel which led to a rat nest in which the money was found.

Faubus Had

Public schools and of this amount, 50 per cent has been earmarked for increases in the pay of classroom teachers.

A bill setting, for the first time, a scale of minimum salaries for teachers was passed into law. Another related bill was passed guaranteeing that if all expected money was not available, the public school fund would have a preferred position—that is that other funds would absorb the deficit.

Still another bill set up a complicated formula for distribution of the school money—a formula devised by Dr. Francis Cornell, a New York consultant of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Education.

An open break developed between Faubus and the Legislature over a bill which would give an over-all increase to teachers during this school year of about one million dollars or an average of $75 per teacher.

Faubus earlier had said he would disapprove the measure if it reached him. The bill now has gone to him with no chance for the Legislature to pass it over his expected veto.

The Faubus program doesn't call for a salary increase for teachers until beginning of the next school year, and the governor contends that an immediate increase would hinder other parts of his over-all plan.

Aside from the schools, the Welfare Department was chief beneficiary of the tax program. It was voted an additional $5,300,000 a year with one million of this amount allocated for care of welfare patients at the state Medical Center.

The revenue bills had cleared before the segregation measures were submitted.

The four bills got through the House without discussion and with only dissenting vote against the two more stringent, but they ran into more of a fight in the Senate.

Senate opponents forced first a public hearing and then adoption of some amendments, but the four bills passed all except two with the emergency clause.

One measure sets up a state Sovereignty Commission, which was given broad powers to carry out its obvious purpose of trying to discourage integration.

Another aimed primarily at the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, calls for close regulation of certain organizations.

A third of the new laws declares that no pupil may be forced to attend a racially integrated school against his will, and the fourth authorizes school districts to employ attorneys in integration suits.

The building bill, which didn't clear the Legislature until this week, allots $2,570,000 for improvements to State Hospital; $1,200,000 for construction of the proposed Children's Colony of the mentally retarded, and lesser amounts for construction at the tuberculosis sanatoriums at Booneville and Alexander, the Blind and Deaf Schools, National Guard armories, a proposed Vocational School, the Boys Industrial School, Fargo Training School, a University of Arkansas Graduate Institute of Technology and a university Animal Science Building State Police facilities and state district and county livestock shows.

Land acquisition and construction at the Pea Ridge National Park in Benton County was allotted $250,000 under the bill, and another $50,000 was set aside for a State Forestry Commission seedling farm.

The compromise plan for distribution of highway revenues ended a fight which actually began at the 1955 session when the cities tried unsuccessfully to get a larger share of turnpikes.

A formula which started out this session as a 75-15-10 per cent division of the revenue among the Highway Department, the counties, and the cities was modified somewhat before all three factions agreed to it. Although no one was completely satisfied, all accepted the compromise, and after this point was reached, the measure was enacted into law without further difficulty.

Early in the session, both branches adopted a resolution praising the Highway Commission, but this commendation didn't prevent a flood of bills to add county roads to the state's road network.

Most of the individual road bills were junked in favor of the general 10-mile-a-county measure.

Comparatively late in the session, a bill backed by the Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce was introduced to permit regulated gambling for favorable local option elections.

It was amended first to apply only to counties of 45,000 or more population and then to apply only to Garland County. Sponsors finally abandoned the bill in favor of a proposed constitutional amendment to permit legal gambling in Garland County, but a joint Senate-house committee refused to clear the proposal for a vote at next year's general election.

The Legislature — especially the House — got into a last minute jam on routine appropriation bills and was still passing the budget measure as the session ended.

The total appropriation won't be known until Faubus acts on the bills, but the figure undoubtedly will be well above the $77,320,000 allotted by the 1955 Legislature.

Measures which Faubus has signed into law or which have passed both houses include bills to:

Legalize the "fairfield price" of natural gas as a factor in gas utility rate making, thus setting aside an Arkansas Supreme Court decision which said this was illegal under former law.

Remove from Arkansas' 90-day divorce law a requirement that the plaintiff must prove an intent to make the state his permanent residence. The House later sought to extend the residence requirement from three to six months, but this was defeated in the Senate.

Freeze for rural electric co-operatives territory once granted it for service.

Increase hunting and fishing license fees from $1.50 to $2.50 annually with the added funds pledged for development of public shooting and fishing areas.

Permit county school boards to abolish the job of county school supervisor.

Increase the annual driver's license from $1 to $2 to permit hiring of additional state policemen.

Set up a retirement system for all state employees, including members of the Legislature.

Strengthen the financing of Arkansas' industrial program and permit investment of additional state funds in industrialization bonds.

Require a loyalty oath of public employees an action which was nullified when the author had the bill recalled from the governor's office and let it die.

Establish a quota system by counties and cities for admissions to the State Medical Center.

Forbid the practice of nudism and the operation of nudist camps.

Set up several new state agencies, including a Water Conservation Commission, a Motor Vehicle Commission and an Arkansas Commerce Commission.

Regulate optometrists and other dispensing eyeglasses.

Change date of the annual school elections from March to December.

Oklahoman Is Best Player at NAIA Meet

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A lanky lad from Southeastern Oklahoma State rapidly is earning a reputation as small college basketball's finest performer by dominating individual play in the NAIA's annual tournament.

Jim Spivey, who earned the nickname aches and sprains in the hardest possible way, scored on an amazing 51.9 per cent of his shots from the field and 818 from the free throw line last night.

His 46-point performance ran his total in two tournament games to 85, and paced Southeastern Oklahoma to a 98-78 triumph over Southwest Texas State College.

House Just Tables Gambling Proposal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The House today tabled a proposed constitutional amendment to authorize legal gambling in Garland County.

A resolution for the proposed amendment was called up by Rep. Ray S. Smith Jr. of Garland, who asked his colleagues to approve it and send it to the Senate.

if the Senate did not concur in any one of the previous three, it could pass on his proposal.

He asserted the House there would be no consideration in the Senate unless one of the other proposed amendments was rejected.

The House voted to limit debate to five minutes on a side. Rep. Taibot Feild Jr. of Hempstead, one of the opponents, sought unsuccessfully to have the time extended.

The vote was 56-15 to kill the resolution.

The House yesterday afternoon voted a place on the ballot for three other proposed amendments but Smith said he wanted action on the gambling proposal so that

Dulles Must Look Again at Poland

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It may be time for Secretary of State Dulles to take a new look at the Polish Communist government. Months ago in a classified letter never made public he told Congress Poland now is not Soviet-dominated. In last October's upheaval it

Poland the Stalinists in control of the government were thrown out and Wladyslaw Gomulka, a Communist jailed for years as a Titoist by Stalin, was made boss of the Communist party.

Since then his government has shown signs — although there have been reasons for skepticism — of being independent of Moscow.

Haile Reported Favorable to U. S. Bases

By JOHN SCALI

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie is reported favorable to a U. S. request for Ethiopian bases flanking Egypt—provided Ethiopia gets more American aid.

Vice President Nixon during his current visit has pressed the American request for an Air Force communications base and anchoring facilities at the Red Sea port of Massawa, Word of the American aims brought immediate reaction from Moscow and Cairo.

Russia was said to have warned Ethiopia it might get embroiled in a major war, alleging the United States wants to store atomic and hydrogen bombs on Ethiopian soil.

Egypt's President Nasser sent a special envoy to Addis Ababa before Nixon arrived, reportedly with an urgent request for the Emperor to visit Cairo. Nasser views the vice president's African tour as part of a concentrated U. S. attempt to isolate Egypt from her neighbors.

The American request, according to well-informed sources, included the right to anchor three warships at Massawa in Peacetime and more in any common war effort. Warships there would be in a strategic position to back up American and Israeli claims to navigation rights in the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aden, some 600 miles to the north.

There has been considerable speculation that the United States would force a showdown by trying to send ships through the Gulf after Egypt's rescue of the Gulf of Aden coast. The closest other bunkering port open to the Americans is the British colony of Aden 300 miles south of Massawa and just outside the Red Sea.

Engineer Gets Red Cross Award

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Pine Bluff safety engineer has been awarded a Red Cross certificate of merit for rescuing a 7-year-old boy from a flooded drainage ditch Jan. 22, it was announced today.

The award, the Red Cross' highest honor, went to Jack N. Kraras, safety engineer for Arkansas Power & Light Co., and Arkansas president of American Society of Safety Engineers.

Leroy Roberson, Red Cross state relations representative, said Kraras plunged into the ditch during a heavy rainstorm, and pulled Charles Smith Jr., of Pine Bluff to safety. The boy had slipped on the embankment and had fallen into the ditch. Kraras found the youngster under the water, wedged into the mouth of the culvert where the swift current had lodged him.

And several weeks ago it sent a delegation to Washington to ask for American economic help.

Dulles' letter was sent to the House Foreign Affairs Committee weeks before the delegation arrived. Between that time and now most of his attention has been concentrated on the Middle East and getting the Israelis out of Egypt.

But on March 10 the New York Times carried a story from Warsaw which said almost all the leaders of the Stalinist faction which fought Gomulka's return to power have now been reinstated in government jobs.

As a result, the story said, there is a feeling of bewilderment in Poland over the Polish Communists' tactics. And students have posted signs asking: Are these changes of jobs or of policy?

There can be no doubt of the desire among Poles — 90 per cent of whom are Roman Catholic — for independence from Moscow.

What isn't known is this: Was the Polish Reds themselves or an effort to quiet the wide unrest by putting on a different face?

There can be no doubt that some of the former harsh Communist controls have been relaxed under Gomulka.

But Russian troops are still in Poland. Under a treaty with Russia, they are forbidden to move around without the Polish government's permission, but this agreement could be broken instantly if the Polish people tried to throw out the Communists altogether.

And Gomulka on Jan. 14 said Poland must veer back toward Moscow's orbit. Poland recently voted in the United Nations for a resolution condemning the United States for alleged subversive activities in Iron Curtain countries and Russia.

What does it all add up to? It adds up to these questions: Has Poland shaken off Soviet control? If so, will this last or will the pro-Russian Poles take power again?

The State Department isn't saying much. Perhaps Gomulka, with Russia breathing down his neck, has to take it easy in trying to lead his people further away from Moscow. He may be under great pressures.

If this is a sincere attempt at a breakaway, it would be to this country's advantage to encourage it by economic help. Just as the United States aid Yugoslavia's Tito helped him stay independent of Moscow.

Before Congress votes any help the Eisenhower administration is going to have to say openly, one way or the other, whether it thinks Poland is now free of Soviet control.
